

RSA Functionality Overview

As of 1 July 2024 (FY25), all members have access to all system functionalities.

Revised: 1 March 2024

Basic Online membership (ends 30 Jun 2024): This membership level was created to replace a standalone automation system by allowing access to limited system feature including RSA-wide holds, basic circulation, basic online catalog feature for patrons, and shared cataloging records. When created as part of our 2006 SirsiDynix contract the intent was never to allow access to advanced functionality. Over time, the progress of technology erased all meaningful differences between this limited membership and Full system membership. Comparing the 2007 and 2024 Basic Online functionality lists to the full function list, it's clear to see that the features provided today have far outgrown a limited membership.

Starting 1 July 2024, all members of RSA have access to all features. Some functionality requires additional staff training or experience levels to enable. Some advanced features may not be appropriate to your particular library.

To determine your library's current FY24 membership level, please refer to the RSA membership list, accessible at <https://support.librariesofrsa.org/about/member-libraries/>.
